

Week 16 英文(三) 商管學院 學習單 12.26.2024
姓名: _____ 學號: _____

Exercise 1

a. The student is from Japan. She sits next to me.

b. The taxi driver was friendly. He took me back to my apartment.

c. Jacob wants to see the house. It is being advertised on the website.

Exercise 2

a. The woman was Mrs. Lee. I saw her yesterday morning.

b. Did you see my phone bill? I put it on my table.

c. The girl is standing over there. Tom brought her to the party.

Exercise 3

a. The conference was interesting. I went to it last month.

b. The people were unfriendly. I spoke to them yesterday.

c. The picture was beautiful. He was looking at it.

Exercise 4

a. The girl called the police. Her purse was stolen.

b. I have to call the woman. I accidentally picked up her pen after the meeting.

c. Dr. Lin teaches a class for students. Their native language is not English.

Exercise 5

Please write D for defining relative clauses; write N for non-defining relative clauses. In addition, you can try to explain the meanings of each sentence.

- a. _____ My brother, who is 20 years old, is a student.
- b. _____ The girl who is sleeping is my student.
- c. _____ The car, which I bought yesterday, was on sale.
- d. _____ I spoke to the mechanic that fixed my truck.

Dialogue:

Tom: Hi, Sue. I just 1 _____ to return the books you wanted. Wow! Where did you get all these new things?

Sue: I bought them. What do you think of my new 2 _____?

Tom: You bought it?

Sue: ... and my new DVD player and my iPhone 7. Let me show you my phone. It's great!

Tom: But 3 _____ did you get money to buy these? You didn't borrow money from Dad again, did you?

Sue: Not this time. I used this!

Tom: Is this Dad's 4 _____?

Sue: No, I got an 5 _____ in the mail.

Tom: But why do you need a student credit card?

Sue: Having a credit card helps you build a 6 _____, and buy things like this iPhone 7 _____ that you can't pay for with cash.

Tom: But how are you going to 7 this bill? Student credit cards just lead to 8 _____. If you 9 _____ the payment, the interest rates on student credit cards are very high.

Sue: Don't worry. The credit card has a 10 _____. By the way, here's your birthday present — a laptop.

Tom: Wow, thanks, but don't tell me you paid for this with your credit card.

Sue: Of course!

Tom: I think having a credit card is a bad idea. How are you going to pay off your bill?

Sue: Well, my birthday 11 _____. I think I'll get lots of money from Mom, Dad, and our grandparents.

Tom: Hey, let's sit down and talk about how to help you get out of this 12 _____ by coming up with a budget plan.

Sue: That sounds like a good idea.

What kind of job opportunities are available if you study finance?

1. A financial analyst analyzes financial data and identifies trends to assist businesses in making informed decisions. 財務分析師分析財務數據並識別趨勢，以協助企業做出明智的決策。
2. An investment banker helps companies raise capital and offers guidance on mergers and acquisitions. 投資銀行家協助公司籌集資金，並提供有關併購的指導。